These men met today, selected a few committee and voted to rescind the action of the union yesterday.

Surprisingly, Gillmore says the company has about all the man it requires at present. Most of the old switchmen returned to work yesterday before the strike was declared off. All passenger trains are running on time, and the freight trains are also running.

The meeting held tonight by the minority of the Railway Union men was largely unimportant, including about one-half that of the A.R.U. membership. It was composed chiefly of men whose places have been filled. They resolved that the strike is still on.

MORE ACTIVITY.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Another section of the plant at Pullman will resume activity tomorrow, the officials of the company announcing that the works of the Alien Paper Car-wheel Company, employing fifty men, would start up in full operation.

In view of this announcement, and the evident intention of the strikers, as openly expressed by them in public places, for Pullman today, to make it difficult for the company to open these additional portions of the works, the police force has been increased in anticipation of trouble.

MONTANA.

The Local A. R. U. President Acknowledges the Strike Is Off.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

BUTTE (Mont.) July 22.—The south-bound Union Pacific passenger train left the depot today under guard. No violence was offered. President Calderhead of the local A.R.U. admits that the strike is broken. He said tonight he thought the Montana Union employees would vote to go back to work in a day or two. This would confine the strike to the Union Pacific.

Superintendent Burns of the Montana Union has published a statement over his signature to the effect that all employees of the road not reporting for employment by Tuesday noon will consider themselves discharged.

BIRMINGHAM THREATENED.

Striking Miners Plan to Attack the Jail and Release Prisoners.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) July 22.—On account of the serious state of affairs growing out of the miners' strike, the police force and the fire department have been doubled. It is reported that several fires last night were of incendiary origin. There have been rumors today that the striking miners intended to burn the buildings in their bodies and attack and set fire to the city and release the 120 strikers now in jail, charged with rioting. The waterworks company has placed guards along the entire water-main for five miles to the reservoir as they think that the water was cut off during Friday night's fire by incendiaries.

Now, however, the miners are armed. The Third Regiment of State troops arrived here today, replacing the First Regiment. The Second Regiment is also on duty. Scouts are sent out every hour to watch the movements of any suspicious bodies of men. Gov. Jones says that the law will be upheld at all hazards. Much apprehension is felt.

AT WASHINGTON.

President Cleveland Said to Have Nominated His Arbitration Commission.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—It is stated on what is considered reliable authority that the President, in addition to Carroll D. Wright, has chosen Judge Lyman Trumbull of Chicago and Mr. George M. Trumbull of New York, who has always taken a deep interest in the cause of labor, and whose judgment in questions of this kind is regarded as fair and impartial, to serve as members of the commission to investigate the Chicago strike. The name of the New Yorker, it is stated, has not been mentioned, except in confidence, to one or two of the President's advisers. It is asserted, however, that he has accepted, and as soon as Judge Trumbull indicates his acceptance the commission will be announced.

HAVE BEEN MENTIONED.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Although the report that the railroad has chosen Lyman Trumbull of Chicago as one of the two commissioners who are to aid Carroll D. Wright in the investigation of the recent strike, could not be officially confirmed, it is known that the President has decided to nominate the two of Lyman Trumbull, and has intimated his intention of selecting the Illinois member of the commission early this week.

It was reported the name of ex-Secretary Fairchild had been discussed by the President in connection with a commissionership, and whether Mr. Fairchild will be named cannot be learned. Ex-Collector Daniel Magone has also been mentioned as a possible appointee.

A BIG JOB.

Organized Labor Undertake the Capture of the National Guard.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The Herald this morning says the report is current, and its authenticity is vouched for by an official attached to one of the most influential of the labor organizations in this city, that organized labor throughout the country is to unite in an effort for the capture of the National Guard interests. This is to be accomplished by the enlistment of labor men in the National Guard of the several States.

The movement was inaugurated in the West more than a year ago, and the labor leaders in this city who favor the scheme point to the recent conduct of the National Guard of California, who refused to do duty in the state, as an illustration of what the plan may accomplish. It has been stated as a result of the conference held in Chicago, an order was promulgated throughout the labor organizations in the East, directing the men to enlist in the militia. This is done by the labor leaders, but the fact remains that the regiments of the National Guard in this State have recently been more numerous than ever, and among them are many members of labor organizations.

Some of the applicants are members of the Knights of Labor, and this is regarded as significant because of the fact that after the railroad riots in Buffalo in 1880 the district assemblies of that order passed resolutions requesting their men to refrain from enlisting in the National Guard, and those already enlisted to retire at the expiration of their terms of enlistment, or as soon as possible. The officers of the regiments of the National Guard in this city have no knowledge of the movement, as it is not yet fully developed, and the men in the regiments shall be interrogated as to whether or not they are members of any labor organization. If so, the colored declared, their applications should be submitted to him for his personal investigation before the men are enlisted.

PLEADING FOR DEBS.

Gompers Issues an Appeal for Funds to Defend the Boss Striker.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Now that the bitter railroad strike is over, the leaders of the local labor organizations are talking up the matter of securing the proper defense for Eugene V. Debs, president of the A.R.U. This activity is in accordance with an appeal issued by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, which will be published in the August number of the American Federation, the official organ of the Federation. It reads as follows:

"Eugene V. Debs stands as one of the most distinguished and interesting figures before the country. None doubt his honesty and devotion to the cause of the wronged against the wrong-doers. Yesterday he was in jail waiting the action of the United States courts upon the charge of contempt of its injunction. He was requested to appear before the federal court, located hundreds of miles from each other, each at the same time. He is indicted for conspiracy for obeying the instructions of his organization and requesting railroads to quit work to aid their struggling fellow-workmen. The corporations have their claws ready to fasten upon the body of Debs, not simply to force to crush him, but they hope to force the spirit of labor into silence and slavish submission."

"That purpose cannot, dare not and will not succeed. Debs must be defended, and ably defended. In his person at this time he represents the rights of labor. Eugene V. Debs is a poor man; he has no money; his trial and preparation will require a considerable amount, and we know that the workers of the country have never yet been appealed to in vain to help the cause of justice, humanity and right. All unions should contribute. We ask all labor men to open subscriptions for the Debs legal defense fund."

"By order of the Executive Committee of the American Federation of Labor. (Signed) SAMUEL GOMPERS, President."

The federation has the list with a subscription of $500.

A TRAMP CRUSADE.

"Gen." Coxey Again Sounds the Tocsin.

The "Wearer Leader Says 'On to Washington' is the Proper Thing—Brown and Sevety Industrials Take the Road.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, July 22.—J. S. Coxey, commander of the Army of the Commonweal, was at Ridgewood Park, L. I., today where he was tendered a reception by the representatives of the People's party, who were holding a picnic there. "Gen." Coxey made an address at the big afternoon meeting.

"... represent a party," he said, "that does not want money that is redeemable in gold exclusively, but money that is redeemable in everything that is used in this country."

Coxey then unfolded the details of his good-roads scheme which, he said, would give employment to every workingman in this country and make the United States the most powerful country in the world.

VALLEJO, July 22.—This city was visited by another fire this evening, and it was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. Tonight's fire destroyed the electric light works on Virginia street. The building was soaked with the oil used on the machinery, and burned with great rapidity. The walls were fireproof, and the firemen were unable to extinguish the flames.

It is claimed by the defense that the Hayward note was substituted for the stock in the stock in the accounts of the estate in order to leave the stock free to be manipulated, and that the estate has been honestly administered. The estate of W. S. Ladd is estimated to be worth $10,000,000 to $15,000,000.

VALLEJO, July 22.—This city was visited by another fire this evening, and it was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. Tonight's fire destroyed the electric light works on Virginia street. The building was soaked with the oil used on the machinery, and burned with great rapidity.

The walls were fireproof, and the firemen were unable to extinguish the flames.

The people are thoroughly aroused by these fiendish attempts to destroy the town, and if the culprits are caught a telegraph pole and a rope will be brought into requisition.

IOWA REPUBLICANS.

State Ticket to Be Nominated at Des Moines—The Platform.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

DES MOINES (Iowa) July 22.—Delegates to the Republican convention on Wednesday are already coming in. Nearly all the candidates and prominent workers are represented in the lobbies. The convention will nominate candidates for State offices as follows: Secretary, auditor, treasurer, attorney-general, railroad commissioner, two judges of the Supreme Court and clerk and reporter of the Supreme Court.

Secretary McFarland, Auditor McCarthy and Judge Granger will be renominated without opposition, and also Judge Delmer, appointed by Gov. Boies to fill a vacancy. For the other offices there are long lists of candidates, and matters are hardly definite enough to warrant a forecast. The temporary chairman will be John Baldwin of Council Bluffs, and Senator Harlan of Creston has been recommended by the money powers; that they are both agreed in using a military, not to quell law-breakers, but to aid in positive capital punishment, without opposition.

"Resolved, that the time has come when no further hope can be held of any remedies for our present industrial distress from either the Republican or Democratic parties; that they are both dominated by the money powers; that they are both agreed in using a military, not to quell law-breakers, but to aid in positive capital punishment, without opposition.

"Resolved, that to this end we call on every workingman and every working-class sympathizer to come out on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next and strike at the ballot-box on the programme laid down by the People's party.

BROWNE LOSES AGAIN.

WILMINGTON (Del.) July 22.—Carl Browne and twenty members of the Coxey army have reached here today and went into camp, having marched from Philadelphia. Md. Browne has been here to Washington to see the servants of the bankers and brokers, and is now going to New York to see the bosses themselves. "Gen." Coxey is expected here tomorrow.

EMBRYO SALTS.

The New York Naval Reserve Taking an Oath.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

GARDINERS BAY (L.I.) July 22.—The crack ships of the North Atlantic squadron, the cruisers San Francisco and New York, bearing the naval militia, anchored here seven miles from Greenwich this morning. A beautiful afternoon, foggy night and smart easterly blow this morning were the conditions of the run, which had been thoroughly enjoyable to the embryo salts.

Divine services were held on the New York at 10:45 a. m. and on the San Francisco. In the afternoon four of the boat-people were sent out to explore the adjacent territory with a view of familiarizing themselves with the surroundings in case of the possibility of future defense. They have no place to go but to the rigging.

Five Seamen Rescued from the Crossroads of a Sunken Vessel.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK, July 22.—For two hours this evening the summer visitors along the Seabright road up and down the shore watching five or six boats to the crossroads of their vessel, which had gone down. It was but twenty-five minutes from the time the hardy life-savers put out from the beach on their errand of mercy until they had reached the wreck and the imperiled sailors, one after another had been taken from the rigging. The vessel, a two-masted schooner, the Robert H. Mitchell, of Baltimore, bound from New York to Norfolk. Among the excited spectators on the shore was ex-President Harrison.

One Hundred and Forty Persons Abandoned by a Russian Vessel.

ODESSA, July 22.—(By Atlantic Cable.) It is now certain that 140 persons were down with the Italian steamer Columbia, which collided with the Russian steamer Vladimir in the Black Sea, a few days ago. All the evidence incriminates the Russian seamen, who deliberately abandoned the Columbia and her crew and passengers in the morning.

A Demand for Her Property by Mrs. Sarah F. Miller.

She Claims Her Husband's Brother Has Defrauded Her.

The Case Extends Back for Nearly Twenty Years—A Note of Alvina Hayward Cuts a Figure in the Proceedings.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—(Special Dispatch.) A special from Portland, Or., says suit has been begun in the State Circuit Court by Mrs. Sarah F. Miller of San Francisco against the estate of the late W. S. Ladd, brother of W. G. Ladd, to recover something over $10,000. She was the wife of W. G. Ladd. She placed the settlement of her husband's estate nearly twenty years ago into his brother's hands. She claims he was coerced into accepting half of the estate which belonged to her in her own right, and was defrauded of half of her husband's moiety to which she was entitled under the laws of California.

The officers of the association are now engaged in clearing up its business. Every thing will be finished this month. The members of whom are to be paid within a short time.

A meeting for the formation of the local switchmen's union has already been set in Chicago. Similar meetings will be held in Omaha, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver and other large cities. When these have been organized each will elect a delegate to a national gathering to be held in a new union of yardmen that will take place within a few months' time.

THE TIMES-MIRROR CO.

ONE LAW FOR ALL.

The managers of the Sugar Trust who put money into both the Republican and Democratic campaign funds were endeavoring to play the double cross on the country. Senator Allen's supplementary report on this subject makes interesting reading, and the result of the disclosures will doubtless be a code of laws, relating to trusts, that are urgently needed on the statute books. The encroachments of capital, when manipulated by unscrupulous men, are dangerous to the liberty of the country, and a severe restraint should be put upon it. The despotism of a Havemeyer, even if gold-plated, is as offensive as is the despotism of Debs, a dynamitard. Between the two classes of criminals—that of the grasping-capitalist class and that of the tyrannical walking delegate—stands the great body of the American people, whose rights are paramount. Legislation, swift and strong, should be had in restraint of the tyrant of gold, as well as the tyrant of brawn. The common people are "the people," and it is their freedom and happiness that must be considered rather than that of any clique or class. American freedom, under the republic of the States, means as much un restraint from combinations of wealth in the hands of trusts as it does protection from the bludgeon and the bomb in the hands of the Anarchist, and until our laws thoroughly cover the ground occupied by these contending miscreants of evil, our liberties are in jeopardy and our peace is menaced.

Down with the tyrants of gold and greed, as well as the tyrants of the strike and boycott! Both are an iniquity and an abomination, and until they are held in leash by the majesty of the law, a permanent peace and a lasting prosperity cannot come to the troubled country.

THE INDUSTRIAL "RUSSIAN THISTLE."

A subscriber at Glendale, writing to urge a more prompt delivery of The Times, adds a P.S. as follows:

P.S.—I have no fault whatever to find with The Times itself, but, on the contrary, I prize it so much that I am the most impatient for the delay of which I complain. Your column concerning the recent senseless strike and boycott had my hearty approval. The American people grant the right of workingmen to quit work, but never will they approve a strike enforced by violence, or the boycott, the latter having no legitimate place on our soil, but, like the Russian thistle, must be wholly rooted out and destroyed.

The impression created in the East by the lawlessness that was permitted to gain a foothold in California during the late strike is expressed in numerous editorials in the great journals "on the other side," of which the following is a sample paragraph:

"California and the whole Pacific Coast seem to be today in hands of a mob. There is practically no government but that of the railroads, and the mob is busily engaged in destroying property and interfering with the operation of the railways. Do the taxpayers of the State realize that every dollar's worth of this damage must be paid for by them? The experience of 1877 in Pennsylvania ought to teach citizens that it is not a trifling thing to stand idly by while sympathetic mobs destroy property in a county, Ill., will also have a nice bill to settle, and the beauty about it all is that the mob States, whose authorities refuse to maintain peace, cannot escape responsibility. If cities and counties refuse to pay the damages inflicted upon the property of others, the Federal government will attend to collecting the money. Governors of the Al- and Waite stripe come high."

Barring the exaggeration in the above, it contains a measure of truth large enough to set our people to thinking.

Gen. Stokes is urging a bill for a grand park, soldiers' home and military post at Gettysburg. We agree with the Cincinnati Times-Star that the scheme has obvious merits, but at least part of the expense should be assessed on abutting property-owners and the neighboring residents who would be chiefly benefited by the change. No local real estate syndicate should be enriched at national expense under the guise of patriotism. Something should be done, too, in the way of a competent, artistic authority to pass on the merits of proposed monuments. Otherwise the famous battlefield will in time degenerate into a sort of Stonehenge. There are already about 400 monuments on the field and some are of indifferent merit to say the least.

The San Francisco Examiner, not having been able to turn the Pacific railroads over to the management of their employees, is now about to hand the whole

THE LATE STRIKE.

Public Opinion on the Great Blunder.

Some Eastern Press Utterances that are Still Timely for the Sound Sense they Contain—Logic of the Situation.

Below are extracts from Eastern newspaper editorials on the recent railway strike and boycott, which, while several days old, are still not untimely, because of the strong, brave and just sentiments which they embody:

DEBS'S PROTOTYPE.

(Cincinnati Times-Star, July 16.) Suppose Messrs. Debs and Sovereign had won in the game they have just been playing, in the fight they have made, not so much against Pullman, as against law and order. Has anybody contemplated for a moment the immediate and remote results of this victory? If they had established their right to interfere whenever there was a dispute between the employer and employee, with whom they had no possible connection, how long would the railroads of the country have been suffered to run, how long the wheels of industry to turn, suffered to revolve? Right after his victory in the Great Northern, Debs proposed that the American Railway Union and the Knights of Labor unite. The object of the union of these two organizations, he said, was to compel a settlement of all labor difficulties throughout the country. If some insignificant dispute arose in any part of the United States, the American employer and employee he proposed to immediately stop all work between San Diego and the Passamaquoddy Bay, and between the lakes and the gulf. This anybody can readily see would mean a chronic palsy of industry, for there never had been and there never will be a minute of time when some form of strike between employer and employee in some part of the country had not existed or will not exist. To have executed the Debs ideal plan of settlement would have meant to keep the laboring man in a chronic state of idleness.

These two conspirators against law and order could have succeeded in their last effort if it had not been six weeks before that the country had turned up again. If Messrs. Debs and Sovereign had demonstrated their right to interfere in a dispute between Pullman and his employees, how long before they would have arrogated to themselves the right to settle all disputes, in low places as well as high? For example, between the superintendent and his hand and his assistants, disputes between a minister and his congregation? Their greed for power could not have been satiated. How long before the family hearthstone would have been subject to their intrusion and they would have been dictating to the private citizen as to whether he should have boiled eggs for breakfast, as to whether his children should wear black shoes or tan shoes, or no shoes at all? The appetite for power grows by what it feeds upon. Success for Debs and Sovereign means a tyranny in this country of which the most oppressed Russian never dreamed.

Debs and Sovereign have their prototype in history. We have no way of judging the future but by the past. The judgment of what would have come had Debs been successful is based on what has come to humanity when ignorance has been suddenly given a scepter. When, in the seventeenth century, Naples was a part of the Spanish possessions, taxation became oppressive even to the extent of a tax on the nose of the people, and on the nose of the tax collector. And yet he chooses just this time to begin his own agitation. He chooses this time to couple the Pullman Company and the sugar trust "as the most outrageous monopolies of the day."

Why should he choose this time? Evidently because he thinks to gain popularity among the strikers by denouncing the Pullman monopoly. He knows perfectly well that his denunciation of the company, tips, poor accommodations and so on, will be eagerly seized upon to create sympathy for the strikers to stir up animosity against the Pullman Company and to divert attention from the real issue which is presented by the nose of the tax collector, the nose of the strike chieftains.

Debs does not attack monopoly until the country is on the brink of civil war, and then he does it in a way calculated to give aid and comfort to the insurgent public enemy.

This is not statesmanship. It is not patriotism. It is something very different from either of them. It is the extreme partisanship carried recklessly to an extreme which is dangerous to society in proportion to the reputation and influence of the man.

WAR AGAINST LABOR AND THE PEOPLE.

(Chicago Herald, July 5.) John Sherman says he thinks the parlor and sleeping-car rates "should be reduced just one-half" and that the "slipping" system should be discontinued. He also says: "It is perfectly clear to me that there is a way to end the sleeping-car problem with ease."

Possibly all this will be so, but why should it be dragged to the front just now? Mr. Sherman states the truth when he says: "This matter has no reference whatever to the strike now in progress in the West." It has nothing to do with the matters at issue between the boycotters and strikers and the railroads and their management, disputes between a minister and his congregation? Their greed for power could not have been satiated. How long before the family hearthstone would have been subject to their intrusion and they would have been dictating to the private citizen as to whether he should have boiled eggs for breakfast, as to whether his children should wear black shoes or tan shoes, or no shoes at all? WAR AGAINST LABOR AND THE PEOPLE.

(Chicago Herald, July 5.) John Sherman says he thinks the parlor and sleeping-car rates "should be reduced just one-half" and that the "slipping" system should be discontinued. He also says: "It is perfectly clear to me that there is a way to end the sleeping-car problem with ease."

Possibly all this will be so, but why should it be dragged to the front just now? Mr. Sherman states the truth when he says: "This matter has no reference whatever to the strike now in progress in the West." It has nothing to do with the matters at issue between the boycotters and strikers and the railroads and their management, disputes between a minister and his congregation? Their greed for power could not have been satiated. How long before the family hearthstone would have been subject to their intrusion and they would have been dictating to the private citizen as to whether he should have boiled eggs for breakfast, as to whether his children should wear black shoes or tan shoes, or no shoes at all? The appetite for power grows by what it feeds upon. Success for Debs and Sovereign means a tyranny in this country of which the most oppressed Russian never dreamed.

Debs and Sovereign have their prototype in history. We have no way of judging the future but by the past. The judgment of what would have come had Debs been successful is based on what has come to humanity when ignorance has been suddenly given a scepter. When, in the seventeenth century, Naples was a part of the Spanish possessions, taxation became oppressive even to the extent of a tax on the nose of the people, and on the nose of the tax collector. And yet he chooses just this time to begin his own agitation. He chooses this time to couple the Pullman Company and the sugar trust "as the most outrageous monopolies of the day."

Why should he choose this time? Evidently because he thinks to gain popularity among the strikers by denouncing the Pullman monopoly. He knows perfectly well that his denunciation of the company, tips, poor accommodations and so on, will be eagerly seized upon to create sympathy for the strikers to stir up animosity against the Pullman Company and to divert attention from the real issue which is presented by the nose of the tax collector, the nose of the strike chieftains.

Debs does not attack monopoly until the country is on the brink of civil war, and then he does it in a way calculated to give aid and comfort to the insurgent public enemy.

This is not statesmanship. It is not patriotism. It is something very different from either of them. It is the extreme partisanship carried recklessly to an extreme which is dangerous to society in proportion to the reputation and influence of the man.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Dedication of Immanuel Church.

Impressive Ceremonies Before a Large Congregation.

Boys' Brigade at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

An Instructive Address to the Youthful Soldiers by Gen. Russell-Servies at the Church of the Unity.

Immanuel Presbyterian Church was dedicated at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in the presence of one of the largest audiences ever assembled in a church edifice in this city. Three weeks ago enough money was subscribed to pay off the debt which was standing against the church. The amount subscribed was $6300, and it was raised in half an hour. At that time yesterday was set as the day for the formal dedication of the church, and great preparations were made for celebrating the occasion in a fitting manner. Nothing that tasteful floral decorations and fine music could accomplish was lacking to make the occasion a most impressive one.

The services opened with an organ voluntary, followed by singing the doxology.

Rev. W. S. Young, pastor of the Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church, then led in prayer. He invoked the divine blessing upon the church and pastor, asking that the church might always be foremost in the Master's service, and that its pastor might continue to receive the divine blessing upon his work.

After the singing of the Te Deum by the choir, the scripture lesson from I Chronicles, xxix, 10-18, was read responsively by the pastor, Rev. Dr. William J. Chichester, and the congregation, as follows:

The Pastor. Blessed be thou, Lord God of Israel our Father, forever and ever.

Congregation. Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty.

Pastor. For all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine.

Congregation. Thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all.

Pastor. Both riches and honor come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thy hands it is to make great; and in thy hands it is to make great; and in thy hands it is to make great; and to give strength unto all.

Congregation. Now, therefore, our glorious God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name.

Pastor. But who am I, and what are we people, that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? For all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee.

Congregation. For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers; our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding.

Pastor. O Lord our God, all this store thou have given unto us, to build a house for thy holy name, cometh of thine hand, and is all thine own.

Congregation. We know, also, O God, that thou triest the heart, and hast pleasure in uprightness.

Pastor. As for me, in the uprightness of my heart, I have willingly offered all these things unto thee, and I see with joy the people which are present here, to offer willingly unto thee, Congregation. O Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, our fathers, keep this forever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of the people, and pray that their heart may be.

Both choir and congregation then joined in singing the church hymn beginning: "Come, oh Almighty King."

The second scripture lesson was read by Rev. L. Finley Lavery, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of this city. The lesson was found in I Kings viii, 22-30; ix, 1-3, and was appropriate to the occasion.

This was followed by prayer and the response, and then came one of the most impressive ceremonies of the day. The Little daughter of the pastor of the church, Katharine Gray Chichester, will date the day of her baptism into the church from the day of the dedication of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church. The Little was brought forward by her father and mother, and the ceremony was performed amid the breathless silence of the great audience.

Rev. Alexander C. Smither, pastor of the Christian Church, gave out the next hymn and choir and congregation joined in singing it. This was followed by the offering—a vocal solo, "With Verdure Clad," from Haydn's "Creation," by Mrs. Tolson.

Rev. J. B. Stewart of Pasadena had been chosen to preach the dedicatory sermon. Mr. Stewart is, or was, the oldest and best-known minister of the Presbyterian church in Southern California, and it was thought fitting that he should be called upon to make an important part in the day's services. Mr. Stewart, of the First Presbyterian Church, I Corinthians xii, 13, and was embodied in the three words, "Faith, hope, and charity." The aged pastor arose and began his sermon in his usual vigorous manner by saying that he thought that the text gave the three prominent characteristics of the pastor of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church.

This was as far as he ever got, for stopping suddenly at this point he was apparently overcome by faintness and a few moments later was in an unconscious condition. He was at once removed in a cab to the Westminster Hotel, his wife accompanying him, and within an hour the attending physician pronounced him quite dead.

Unconscious of the serious nature of Mr. Stewart's ailment the services of the dedication were proceeding, meanwhile, as if nothing had happened.

At a sign from the pastor the entire congregation arose and remained standing while the service of dedication was read by pastor and congregation responsively as follows:

The Pastor. Dearly beloved: In the beautiful merites of Almighty God the hour having come when this house is to be formally dedicated to His service, you are to rise and signify your desire therefore by shouting.

The Pastor. Will God in very deed dwell on earth? Behold heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain Thee; how much less the house which we have builded!

Congregation. Yet have respect, O Lord, unto the prayer which Thy servants pray before Thee this day, that Thine eyes may be open toward this house night and day.

Pastor. Unto Thee, infinite and eternal God, Father, Son and Holy Ghost:

Congregation. We dedicate this house.

KING OF THE TURF.

Fred Taral Has Had a Romantic Career.

An insight into His Pleasant Home Life.

How the Little Jockey Handles His Income.

He is the Son of a German Farmer of Illinois and Married a Neighbor's Daughter—No Bad Habits to Injure His Health.

(From a Special Contributor. Copyright, 1894.)

"Hail, Fred Taral, King of the turf!" Twenty thousand voices echoed and resounded the loud acclaim of victory. It was Suburban day, and Fred Taral, the greatest of American jockeys, had just won the crowning triumph of his remarkable career. He had accomplished what no other rider had ever done—captured in rapid succession the three classic events of the year, the Brooklyn Handicap, Metropolitan and Suburban races.

Taral was by long odds the coolest and most self-possessed man at Sheepshead Bay on that eventful day. True, his broad, pale face was a bit flushed with gratified pride, and his honest blue eyes sparkled with unconcealed joy, but he was an iceberg as far as outward and visible signs went, and a Chesterfield in bearing, compared to the wild, frenzied mob which cheered his victory, and which bore him aloft in triumph to the paddock.

And how did this prince of jockeys, this equine monarch, celebrate the day which marked an epoch in the story of his life as well as in the history of the American tar? In flowing bumpers of wine at the track, and in a saturnalia on his triumphant return to the city?

Far from it. Fred Taral is a home man. Vents, no more than Baeches, has any attraction for him. His home is his kingdom, his pretty little wife its queen, and his four-year-old baby boy its prince royal. As soon as he could break away from his admirers, Jockey Taral made for his home and to his comely helpers to retell the story of the race. At 9 o'clock he was in bed. At daybreak he was off for Chicago to take part in the sturdy, well-to-do farmer and merchant in Illinois, vigorously opposed his becoming a jockey at first, but subsequently relented. There was no prouder or happier man in Illinois when Fred won his first Brooklyn Handicap on old Diabla's year ago.

Fred Taral, although but 23 years of age, is the richest of American jockeys. Yet, there is not a mean hair in his head. He is almost prodigal in his expenditures, and treats his friends with princely hospitality. The few hours he has on week days to himself—since the time he returns from the races to 10 o'clock at night—are devoted to his wife and baby. On Sunday, however, he is generally at home, and friends call on him by the score. Here he is seen at his best. At the table wit, jokes and repartee are cracked as well as bottles, and good-fellowship is the order of the day. There is an ample sideboard in Taral's dining-room, and the guests are given full scope of its contents as well as substantial viands. But Taral never joins them in libations. He dare not do it for fear of "making weight"—that bête noir of all successful jockeys. In fact, he scarcely ever touches liquor. It is only when a bit weakened from "reduction" at the bar or elsewhere that he ever does.

Many rich, trim, good-looking young men and matrons call on Taral at his house and parake of his hospitality, and are always heartily welcomed. It is only, however, when seated at the table with a few intimate friends that he enjoys a dinner the most. Some of these are Johnnie Eckardt, the famous referee of civic events, Ed Stone, Taral's life-long friend and adviser, with whom he used to ride, and the like.

P. C. Smith, of the stock-billiard players on this Coast, gave a stock of fancy shots in the clubrooms last Friday evening, after which he played a game with Mr. Slater. Smith was to play 300 points or no count to Slater's 150 total; this he failed to accomplish, though an ordinary feat for him. The game ended in a score of 151 points for Mr. Slater, to 902 for Smith. Smith's largest wins were 169, 39, 111, 73, 27, 62.

"Uncle" John Burns has returned from a four months' trip to Boston and other large Eastern cities. He reports a most enjoyable time, but expresses himself as being pleased to be back again with his home in the City of the Angels.

E. W. Hopperstead, the club's high jumper, has returned from San Francisco, where has been visiting the Midwinter Fair.

The board of directors has appointed

"Billy" Gallagher, the welter-weight champion of the Pacific Coast, as boxing instructor, his duties commencing this evening.

When not at his own home on Sundays, Taral repairs to the big roadhouse he recently purchased on the Harlem River road, the "Swan's Nest." There he meets the most distinguished of sporting politicians and makes free and easy with them all. The air of reserve, which he usually maintains at the race track, disappears. There are no "touts" to badger him for "tips" and the feeling of restraint is gone. He is as jolly as the jolliest and will give and joke with any one.

BROKE JAIL.

Two More Prisoners Escape from the City Prison.

Two men broke jail early yesterday morning, and the public are thereby again reminded that the present City Prison is woefully inadequate to the demands made upon it. No extended preparations were made for the attempt, either. No filing of papers, no search, no examination of the various chiseling of masonry, neither were the desperados obliged to toil for weary months, and in secret, at some long underground tunnel, secure their freedom. They simply took two or three tables and a barrel, placed one on top of the other, then wrenched off an iron bar, lifted the skylight, and they were out. It was so simple, so easy, so overdone, so slight, that the wonder is that efforts in that direction have not often been successful.

A man named Lint, who had only three weeks' confinement left out of a sentence of 120 days for petty larceny, was one of the jail-breakers. The other was a man named Myrtle, who was over a year in jail, on a sentence of 500 days, and he it was, probably, who planned the escape. Myrtle was a confidence man, who lured the unsuspecting sucker into wagering money that he could open a certain lock, because he had seen what he imagined was the same lock open in ease a moment before. Lint had been convicted of stealing a coat and vest from a man on Los Angeles street some months before.

Every effort was made to catch the men, but without success, although their escape was discovered five minutes after it occurred. Officer Reynolds and Jailer Hill spent the greater portion of the day scouring the city and suburbs, going as far as San Fernando and Hollywood, but to no purpose.

Charles Myrtle, alias Myrtle, alias Morgan, alias Sherman, is about 35 years of age, weighs 165 pounds, and is 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall. He has a dark complexion, light gray eyes, dark brown hair, and when dressed in a business suit, although at the time of his escape, he had a full brown beard. His full measure, with arms extended, is 5 feet 10 1/4 inches; chest measure, 35 inches; waist, 34; hat, 7 1/2; boots, No. 9. There is a deep seam between his lower lip and chin. Tattooed on his left forearm is a representation of a dancing girl, with arms over her head, and on his right forearm an American flag.

S. P. Lint is a married man, and was by occupation a laborer. He is 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall, 23 years of age, slightly built, and weighs 126 pounds. He has small hands, a fair complexion, light brown hair, eyes, eyebrows, and mouth. His nose is straight, his face oval, teeth regular, and a dimple is noticeable in his chin. With arms extended, he measures 5 feet 9 1/2 inches; chest measurement is 34 1/2 inches; waist, 33 inches, and he wears a No. 7 hat and No. 6 shoes. There is a large vaccination mark on his left upper arm, small scars on his right knee, one below the knee and several more on his left knee.

Police officers throughout the country are requested to be on the lookout for men answering to the descriptions given above, and to communicate at once to Chief of Police Glass any information they may get concerning them.

A New Branch of "Christian Endeavor."

(Cincinnati Times-States) — The attendance of delegates to the International Christian Endeavor Convention at Cleveland is reported at 40,000. The moral effect has been so great that the city papers are making a Christian endeavor to stop lying about the census. They are counting delegates instead.

A SENSATION ON SPRING STREET.

There was quite a sensation on Spring street Saturday, caused by the announcement of the well-known firm of J. M. Hale & Co.'s intention of closing out their entire stock. The two shop windows were filled to their utmost capacity with a great variety of goods, silks, dress goods, choicest designs in wash goods, etc., at prices that seemed to fascinate the ladies passing along the street, and the universal opinion was that this house must be in earnest in its intentions.

How else could they afford to offer their entire stock at such ruinous low prices; prices that no house could possibly afford to still continue in business. In answer to an inquiry the head of this well-known firm gave the reason that there was a very successful business existence of eleven years in this city, they had decided on going out of the business as an individual firm and that as soon as the present stock was closed out would reorganize as a stock company, prepared to cater to their many customers and the public in general, and in order to insure a large number to close out the entire stock of dry goods, domestics, ladies' and gentlemen's furnishing goods, and that prices would be unusually low even for a sale of the entire stock.

It is the desire of the firm to get rid of the stock as rapidly as possible. Sale to commence Monday, July 23, and to continue until closed out. Ladies should bear in mind that the morning is the best time to do their shopping and avoid the usual afternoon rush.

MRS. GARNER'S RETURN.
She Denies Certain Statements Made Concerning Herself.

Mrs. Kate Q. Garner returned from San Francisco by steamer yesterday afternoon and will remain in the city some days with her mother.

Mrs. Garner is very indignant over her treatment by the San Francisco papers, who, she says, have grossly misrepresented her. She states positively that she took no part whatever in the Furnald case, as was reported. She says that she did not call on the Judge in his behalf, nor did she create a scene in court. In fact, she says she was not in the courtroom at all when Furnald was sentenced, although the San Francisco papers state that she was, and almost went into hysterics when judgement was pronounced against him.
